Oxford County South

Experience Level: Advanced, long-distance road riding

Route Surface: Paved

Length: 92 KM

Route Description:

A great longer ride around and through the southern part of Oxford County, this route is suitable for either road cyclists looking to gear up or experienced recreational cyclists who may want to enjoy the scenery at a more leisurely pace, with a stopover night at one of the welcoming town centres along the route.

Heading out from Woodstock, the city streets quickly turn to well paved and quieter country side roads. South of the highway overpass, fly along Mid-dletown Line enjoying the slight descent, sweeping vistas and surrounding farmlands. With refreshment stops enroute limited to only Burgessville before Tillsonburg, refueling needs should be considered ahead of time. Heading west the road changes names a few times but continues through from Cornell Road to North Street to Brownsville Road, before turning north along one of the more popular cycling roads in the County, Dereham Line. With the route passing through Ingersoll at the 75 km mark, there are a number of picturesque and good rest stops to enjoy. The final leg along Beachville Road, straight into Woodstock, rounds out the ride nicely.

Route Option and Notes:

Shorten the loop to 64 km by turning west at Burgessville, the 22 km mark, along Salford Line. Lengthen route to 110 km by continuing on 31st Line from Ingersoll, turning at County Road 33, via Embro.
